English Church Disestablishment Not Without Hope of Realisation.

Less Opposition to the Proposal-The Prince of Wales and His Irish Trip-Concession to the Crofters-The Genman Military Bill-Amiel, the Alleged Conspirator-Prince George's Gunboat-The Longue Pointe Disaster - Centractor Whelan's Sensational Story-Foreign News,

LONDON, May 22.-It may be taken as one of the signs of the times that less and less op-position is shown to the proposal to disestabilsh the English Church. The recent vote in Parliament on the motion to disestablish the Church of Scotland, the growing strength from year to year of the Liberation Society, which has this end as its object for the entire ingdom, the comparative indifference of the Tory press to the question, all tend to show that disestablishment is not without hope of realization. In fact it seems possible some day it may come as a wel-come relief from the grievance of the present system. One of the most glaring anomalies of the church en-dowment system is found in the payment of the clergy. This is a real grievance and one under which many a poor curate and his family are starving, while the horse-racing and hunting vicar, as likely as not, has his town house in addition to his suburban vicarage and enjoys the pleasure of the season, while the poor curate administers to the needs and does the work of the parish. There are about 80,000 clergymen of the Established Church in the kingdom, 14,000 of whom are curates' clerteals. Salaries range from £15,000, received by the Archbishop of Canterbury, down to £50, which represents the allowance of the humble impossible to displace a vicar except for gross immorality or some crime, and the rope which is allowed a rector is of wonderful length. A curate, however, may be sent packing at any time, wife, children and all. He is treated as a sort of superior servant and is retained only during his rector's pleasure unless he be licensed, in which case he can be dismissed at the end of a year's engagement. one on trial. The bishop of the diocese place for three months, at the end of which time, if he and the vicar are agreed, the bishop will license him. But if the curate has proved unpopular, or worse still, too miss him with less prospect than before of obtaining work. The Lib-eration Society points to the flourishing condition of the church in Ireland which has long been disestablished and disendowed and demand that abuses in the Church of STANLEY'S TARDINESS. ments has been the subject of a great deal of comment since his return. He has scarcely attended a dinner, a reception, or any other gathering in his honor that he has not kept the guests waiting at least half an hour and his dilatoriness at the dinner given to him by the Chamber of Commer night was positively exasperating. Fully an hour and a half elapsed after the guests had assembled before it pleased the petted and obviously spoiled ilon of the occasion to honor them with his presence. MONTREAL, Quebec, May 22.—A letter has been received by the city detectives from the father of young Kimber, expressing great anxiety as to the disappearance of his son. Among other things he says: "Sir Stafford Northcote, M. P., has very kindly taken the matter in my behalf, I have received two letters from the Colonial Office and a copy of the cablegram sent to Lord Stauley, Goyernor General, by Lord Knutsford. Wefeel that here has been foul play, for there is no motive f alive for his stience, as he knew it would cause his friends great anxiety. We should ike to know about his baggage, and if it is taken care of, and when the police first had notice of his disappearance. I may add that he left home quite alone. If he had any ac-

The steamer Fremona, from Newcastle which arrived yesterday, had a very startling experience with the ice about 150 miles on the ing slowly through a dense fog on Wednesday last, when she got right in the midst of a pack of ice, which was drifting southward with the Arctic current. At the Longue Pointe inquest yesterday the nuns produced a list of fifty-six inmates who perished in the Insane Asylum fire.

The list was made up from information supplied by the aurees. The jury demanded an official list of all who could not be traced and the inquest was adjourned for a week to allow the sisters time to prepare it. It will be taken that the Government intends to create a Labor from the record and will contain the names of Information Bureau, similar in its workings all who were in the asylum at the time of the to that in operation in England. and everybody waited for the time of adjournment. It is expected that to-morrow the installation of officers will take place, which will conclude the business of the Grand Lodge. The present meeting has been a very uneventful one, and with the exception of the discussion regarding saloon-keepers, has been without unusual interest.

At yesterday afternoon's session of the Grand Lodge, in Odd Fellows' Hall, the proposed amendment to change the method of taxation of the members was voted on and defeated. The Grand Masser's report dwelt at length on the admission of saloon-keepers to the order and a hot debate ensued, after which a vote was taken on the question of excluding all saloon-keepers from the order. The side advocated by the Grand Masser carried the day. A number of saloon-keepers, principally in St. Louis, St. Joseph, Kansas City, belong to the order, and the enforcement of the rule will doubless be a disagreeable task.

Mr. Moffat talked with him, but told him to come back in a day or two. The next morning he went into Mr. Moffat's private office, and, drawing a revolver, said to him:

"Mr. Moffat, I am a desperate man. I must have money. Write a check for $21,000 and take it over to the teller. Draw the money and come back here. I will go with you, and if you make the least resistance or cry for help I'll shoot you dead. In this other pockes I have a bottle of altroglycerine. I don't care whether I live or die, and if there is any outery I'll blow the whole bank sky-high."

perate as he said he was. Mr. Moffat obeyed and the robber coolly walked out of the bank with the money.

Nothing more was heard of him until the arrest of Mansfield King, who told numerous stories of his alleged crimes. He first said that he had killed a man in Rails County, Mo., some years ago, that he had robbed his uncle, stolen horses and committed all sorts of crimes, and after awhile he made a supplementary confession and said he was the man who robbed the Denver cashier. He described it, but told no details which he could not have obtained from the newspapers. He claims to have some of the money hidden away—nearly all of it, in fact, and intimates that it will be surrendered. The authorities do not believe that he is the robber, however. Sheriff Dozenbach wrote to Chief of Police John F. Farley of Denver, who informed the bank officials and Mr. Otis has come to 8t. Louis to look at the man and see whether he is the bold robber. King is in jail at Clayton and Mr. Otis went out there. King is very sick today and it is feared he will never get well. A priest has been with him fil the afternoon.

therefore, as essential to the restoration of unity among the divided branches of Christendow, we account the following, to-wit:

1. The holy scriptures of the old and new testament as the revealed word of God.

2. The Nicene creed as the sufficient statement of the Christian faith.

3. The two sacraments—baptism and the supper of the Lord, ministered with unfailing use of Christ's words of institution, and of the elements ordained by Him;

4. The Historic Episcopate locally adapted in the methods of its administration to the varying needs of the nations and peoples called of God into the unity of His church;

Furthermore, deeply grieved by the sad divisions which afflict the Christian church in our own land, we hereby declare our desire and readiness, so soon as there shall be any authorized response to this declaration, to enter into brotherly conference with all or any Christian bodies seeking the restoration of the organic unity of the church with a view to the earnest study of the conditions under which so priceless a blessing might happily be brought to pass.

to the earnest study of the conditions under which so priceless a blessing might happily be brought to pass.

The consideration of the report of the Committee on Missions, which was before the conference when it adjourned yesterday, was resumed this morning. The p-ritular paragraph was the one recommending the appointment and employment of three secretaries for missions. The church has for a long time had but one, and it was generally conceded that there must be one more, but the committee insisted that three were necessary to do the work and, that missionary endeavors would be hampered and delayed if the conference refused on econominal grounds to furnish sufficient men to attend to the missionary work.

Dr. Candler made a very earnest speech, declaring that two additional secretaries were absolutely needed; a railroad company would see it and shey would spend the money, but the church refused because the appointment would cost $2,500 additional every year. If the church pursued such a course as that it would not be long before the world would say the church could not justly rebuke the world for giving more attention to the making of money than to the work of God.

of the report denied that they were influenced by motives of economy; that they did not measure souls by dollars, but they thought two additional secretaries unnecessary. The charge has been made, though it is untrue, that half the missionary money is spent to get the other half to the heathen. When this remark was made there were a dozen cries from all parts of the house, "It's not true."

Dr. Candler: "It only costs 3 per cent."

"I know it," said Dr. Andrews of Alabams, the Speaker," and it is far from my intention to give even the color of truth to such a statement, but I am sfraid that if we make this expenditure we will subject ourselves to atluging cristism."

Earnest appeals were made in favor of the committee's report and the debate continued until the previous question closed it, and the vote was taken on an amendment to make the proposed number two instead of three searcharies. The amendment was lost by a vote of the report, providing for the appointment of the report, providing for the appointment of the resorctaries was, the nadopted by a viva vote. EAST AGAINST WEST.

THE FIGHT OVER SERGEANT-AT-ARMS IN THE SENATE-

Manderson Takes Care of the West's In-terest—The Carthage Postmastership— Passage of the Tariff Bill in the House— Washington News.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispaton.
Washington, D. C., May 22.—Congressman Wade made a short call on the President and explained the Carthage Post-office case. The "Farmer" had some doubts about Mr. Kerens not caring how the case was disposed of, and to set his mind at rest called upon the Executive and made a plea for the resention of Thos. Irwin as the nominee. At this writing Congressman Wade is feeling a little encouraged. Another thing he spoke about was the considering of Poney Boyd of Springfield, Mo., for a foreign mission. The member of Congress from the Kansas City district, Mr. Tarsney, has found it necessary to write a number of constit-uents telling them that he will not be able to go West until Congress ad-journs. He said: "I'd better be here attending to your business than there looking after my own." The contest for the office of Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate, vice Canady resigned, has resolved itself into a row of the East against the East and Gen. Manderson of Nebraska the West. Ex-Congressman Ed. Stalentine of Nebraska is believed to have sufficient suppert to give him the position unless Senators Plumb and Ingalls bring forward a new man to-day, which they threaten.

The final arrangements have been made by the district militia for their trip to Kansas City and they will leave Washington for Chicago and from there will go to Kansas City by the Burlington route on the morning of the Slat, returning by the way of St. Louis. As she time approaches they are putting in some hard work and are now drilling every night. They have cots in the armery and sleep there so that they will be able to have all present at their early morning drill, the first of which took place at 5:30 yesterday.

The Tariff Bill, WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22 .- The tariff House yesterday, and was adopted by a vote bill was put upon its final passage in the House yesterday, and was adopted by a vote of 164 to 142. Mr. Coleman of Louisiana was the only Republican who voted against the bill because of the sugar schedule. The four Republicans from Missouri voted for the bill, and seven of the Democrats voted against it. The other three did not vote at all.

The bill as it passed the House is, aside from a few matters of minor importance, in exact acceptance with the recommendations made by the Ways and Means Committee. It is a noticeable fact that with these unimportant exceptions not an amendment was adopted which was not advanced by the Ways and Means. Committee or with its permission after the bill came into the House. There were many Republicans opposed to various provisions affecting the interests of their respective localities, but with the exception of Mr. Coleman of Louisians it appears that none of them deemed it advisable to vote against the bill on acquant of an objection to one or more of its minor features. There is no doubt that the bill will be changed in several particulars after it gets to the Senate Committee. This much is already indicated by members of the Senate Committee on Finance. There is no doubt that the California, Kansas and Nebraska Senators will endeavor to have the sugar schedule changed to the better advantage of the sugar-cane interests of their respective thates, as well as to the advantage of the sugar-cane interests of their respective thates, as well as to the advantage of the sugar-cane interests of their respective thates, as well as to the advantage of the sugar-cane interests of their respective thates, as well as to the advantage of the sugar-cane interest of their respective of the sugar-cane interest of WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22 .- The Lacey sub-committee had its first session here yes Little Rock until vesterday, when the Chair-Little Rock until yesterday, when the Chairman called a meeting to take the testimony of some men who could not be heard in Arkansas. The committee will, of course, report against Mr. Breckinridge. Yesterday they examined a man named Robert Warren Taylor, a man whose character is such that he could not live in Morrillton and had to go to Purcell, I.T., where he is now residing. Taylor has roamed about the country from Oregon to the Indian Territory, and followed all trades from drug clerk to painter. He was one of the crowd that rode from Plummerville to Morrillton the night the heliothey from drug clerk to painter. He was one of the crowd that rode from Plummerville to Morrillton the night the ballot-box was stoles, but he cannot teil who took it. Taylor admitted his complicity in all the alleged Arkansas rascality and turned informer. He said he rode with the others to Morrillton, intending to put down a reported uprising. O. P. Bentley and W. P. Wells went into the town while the others waited on the edge of it. Wells and Bently came back and said everything was quiet. Witness noticed that Bentley had a ballot box, and asked him what he was going to do with it, but he refused to answer. Taylor rehearsed all the known incidents of the Morrilton troubles and told the committee many of his suspicions. The Republican members of the committee say that he made a deep impression. The Democrats laugh, but the committees will report against Breckinridge.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22 .- The House Committee on Patents to-day decided by a the Simonds international copyright bill. The bill contains a section providing for reol-procity in the matter of copyright between the United States and foreign countries. This section is as follows; "That this act shall only apply to a citizen of foreign state or nation when such foreign fatte or nation permits to citizens of the United States of America the benefit of copyright on substantially she same basis as its own citizens; or when such foreign State or nation permits to citizens of the United States of America copyright privileges substantially similar to those provided for in this act; or when such foreign state or nation is a party to an international agreement which provides for reciprocity in the grant of copyright, by the terms of which agreement the United States of America may at its pleasure become a party to such agreement." the Simonds international copyright bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22 .- The Chillan embers of the Pan-American Conference pulsory arbitration treaty adopted by the majority of the conference. Chili favors international arbitration, but regards com-pulsory arbitration as impracticable and dangerous. It is also pointed out that the United States Government, as far back as 1838, committed itself against such a principle. Ohili also makes the point that the recent obnference had no authority to adopt treat-les.

The St. Louis Arsenal Property. WASHINGTON, D. C., May 23.—Congressman Kinsey has received a letter from the Secre tary of War concerning the bill which pro poses the transfer of the strip of Government land in front of the St. Louis Arsenal to that city. The Secretary expresses the opinion that the War Department needs the ground, and that it would not be advisable to turn it over to St. Louis. Maj. Miller, whose headquarters are in St. Louis, takes the same view as the Secretary, and the chances appear to be against the proposed transfer.

FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 22.—A message was presented from the President with an acompanying communication from the Secretary of the Interior, on the subject of the purtary of the Interior, on the subject of the purchase from the Creek Nation of Indians of 25,000 acres of land for the use of the Seminoles. Referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

The credentisis of Calvin S. Brice as Senator from the State of Ohio for six years, commencing March 4, 1891, were presented by Mr. Paine, read and placed on file. Among the bills reported and placed on the calendar was one appropriating $200,000 for a dry dock at Algiers.

The House.

Washington, D. C., May 22.—Mr. Dunnell of Michigan, from the Committee on Census, reported a bill amendatory of the census act; passed. It prescribes a penalty upon any supervisor or enumerator, who shall receive, or any person who shall pay, any fee or other consideration in addition to the compensation of such supervisor or enumerator.

such institution now in existence in this city, the St. Louis Trust Co., while other cities of less importance have several. Hitherto the different attempts at organization have failen through, but last month a few gentlemen met to consider the advisability of organizing such an institution, and after making inquiries consided that ample funds could be secured. On Tuesday evening a meeting was held at the office of H. L. Morrill, and a preliminary organization was effected. It was decided to capitalize the company at $1,000,000, but from present indications it is by no means impossible that this capitalization will be increased by 50 per cent. The stockholders are principally to be found among capitalists, and bank officials are numerous among the directors. It is understood however, that a great deal of the stock for which bank officers have subscribed is really the property of others who have asked them to act for them.

THE EMBARRASSMENT

In which the new company now finds itself is of rather an unusual nature. When the matter was first talked over it was believed that $1,000,000 would be as much as could be readily obtained, and it was determined to make $300 shares of the par value of $100 each, the maximum subscriptions for more than double this amount had been received and all who were to be taken into the company had not been heard from. Either one of two things must be made. The officers chosen or rather nominated, are George W. Parker, President; Carlos S. Greeley, First Vice-President; Julius S. Walsh, Third Vice-President; Julius S. Hals it is now in Jafferson City attending to the preparation of articless of incorporation, and it is expected that on Monday everything will be in readiness.

GREAT RETICENCE IS MANIFESTED as to the stockholders, the reason assigned being that until the question of capitalization and division of the stock was determined upon it would be impossible to say who would be connected with the company and who would not. According to reports in well informed quarters the following gentlemen will be interested: D. K. Fergusen, Ezra H. Liniey, R. A. Crawford, J. R. Lionberger, W. A. Hargadine, W. H. Thompson, C. H. Turner, C. C. Maffitt, Christian Peper, C. L. Buschman, Leouard Matthews, George E. Leighton, and David Rankin. George W. Farker is as yet uncertain whether he can act as President, he having to consult with the directors of the Cairo Short Line before announcing a decision. The company will receive money on trust, manage estates, make loans on real estate, attend to the separate estates of married women, and transact all business usually falling within the province of a loan and trust company. A savings bank feature with interest on deposits is also contemplated, the need of such an institution in this city having long been recognized.

Miners Will Strike.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 22.—At a meeting of the coalminers at Reynoldstown, Wednesday, ver four hundred delegates from the Clarion over four hundred delegates from the Clarion and Reynolds districts were present. They represented over six thousand miners, and by a unanimous vote decided to atrike for the Columbus scale of 65 cents. Bell, Lewis & Yates, the largest operators affected by the strike, are, they say, prepared for a six months' siege, and think that at the expiration of that time the cold weather will freeze out the men. The miners of the Rochester district voted recently against atriking. In view of the action at Reynoldstown, the Rochester men will probably reconsider their action and strike, hoping by united effort to bring the operators in the Clarion and Reynolds district to terms.

At the term of adolescence 28 pounds should be added for 8 or 4 inches of height; 112 pounds for 5 feet 6 inches; 126 pounds for 5 feet 8; 140 pounds for 5 feet 10; 114 pounds for 5 feet 11, and 188 pounds for 6 feet of height is good weight.

Growth is very irregular in children and young people generally; perhaps two inches may be gained in two months, and for the next ten months not another inch, even up to the age of ten or twelve years.

While growth is thus rapid fatigue is readily induced; during the pause weight is gained and work or training can go on again.

A REMARKABLE ADMISSION-

In his last speech explaining his vote for the McKinley bill, Mr. NIEDRINGHAUS made this remarkable statement: Now, let me state that I am not interested in this bill personally. I could to-day lock up my factory in the United States and go to Germany, where I could hire three men for time; and I could there manufacture my goods, import and pay the duties imposed under the McKinley bill, and make 25 per cent more than I can make by manufacturing in the United States.

He here makes two very important averments: That the McKinley bill avors the foreign manufacturer against the home manufacturer so far as Mr. NIEDRINGHAUS' business is concerned, and that Germany's elaborate system of protection does not prevent a German laborer from having to work three and three-fifths days for the wages a man gets in this country for one day's work. If the latter averment is true, how can Mr. NIEDRINGHAUS pretend that protection makes the differencelin wages, and as a protectionist how can he justify his vote for the McKinley bill? He declares that it offers him a bribe of 25 per cent greater profits to close his St. Louis establishment and manufacture his goods in Germany for sale in this country. Is that protection to home manufactures?

We have no doubt that the bill does favor the foreign manufacturer to the extent of 25 per cent by *axing Mr. NIED-RINGHAUS' raw material. It is emphatically a bill to favor a few trusts and to cripple the great bulk of American industries. Mr. WALKER, & Republican representing a manufacturing district of Massachu setts, declared in the House that one feature of the bill would within five years destroy the business of manufacturing frearms in this country. The Ways and Means Committee, he said, had reached a oint where, instead of protecting Amerian industries, it was striking them down. Is Mr. NIEDRINGHAUS consciously helping to do that very thing?

MAKING PROHIBITION NATIONAL.

BOUTELLE of Maine, WILSON of Iowa and others representing prohibition States in Washington City, are making much outery as extreme State rights men who THE war between Mayor Correll of hold that the recent decision of the Su-Cedar, Keys, Fla., and the United States preme Court will destroy the police power is progressing slowly. Stirmishing par-of the States over the liquor traffic within ties from the gunboat McLane are still their borders, unless Congress protects their borders, unless Congress protects and preserves that power by amending the interstate commerce law with a proviso that "nothing in this act shall be 'construed to authorize the sale of intox-'icating liquors in any State contrary to 'the laws thereof."

> It is not true that the right of the importer to make sale of liquors in original packages interferes at all with the power of the State to regulate by license, or to prohibit, subsequent sales of the liquors to consumers. The prohibitory laws of Iowa in deference to former Supreme Court decisions, expressly recognize the right of importers to make such sale in original packages of liquors imported from foreign countries, but forbid a similar sale by importers of liquors from other States of the Union. The Supreme Court decision of the Union on the same footing as importations from foreign countries. The Attorney-General of Kansas, in a letter of instruction to his subordinates, says of ocrats. A tendency to treat the custody of public money as a "private snap to be shared with political supporters, seems to be required to make a Jackson County Democrat a popular and success ful candidate for a treasurership.

THE McKinley bill has passed the House and Quay has made good his contract with the contributors of the campaign odle. But it is generally understood that the Republicans will not dare to go before the people next fall on a measure which is denounced by three out of four of the leading Republican papers of the West. The Senate is to step in and to try to save the party from being immolated on the altar of Quay's contracts. Under the bossism of REED and McKin-LEY the House is making a legislative cipher of itself.

THE Wichita Eagle, the leading Republican paper in the greatest city of Kansas speaks of the McKinley bill as "an outrageous performance," "a cheap monkey 'show in the face of high Heaven and of "the American people," which "takes 'dollars from the farmer and returns him "dimes." Half a dozen other Kansas Republican papers are as openly opposed to it as the Eagle, and one of them says that in his rage for taxing everything Mckinley has even "put a higher tax on salvation."

REPRESENTATIVE NORTON of the Seventh Missouri District failed to vote on the most important measure which has come before the House this session—the tariff bill-because he was at home electioneering for the nomination in next election. Mr. Norton insults the intelligence of his constituents if he thinks that volcing highsounding platitudes from the stump will please them better than working and voting in their interest at the post of duty.

State Control Over Interstate Commerce.

From the Chicago Tribune.

The fear has been expressed in Chicago that if Congress should permit States to apply to imports any regulations which they make for domestic products of the same class they would quickly find a way to destroy freedom of interstate commerce, and States like Indiana and Minnesota would promptly bar out dressed beef or other products from this city. They would require inspection such as could be made easily by local butchers but which would exclude meat products from other States. In respect to other articles they could adopt nominal laws of prohibition arranged so as to remain a dead letter on the tatute books. Foreign products could thus be excluded and home monopolies built up under the shelter of dishonest prohibito laws. In view of the singularly dishonorable anti-dressed beef legislation attempted re-cently it can hardly be doubted that some of the States would be quite willing to resort to such trickery.

From the New York Times.

It would be a valuable contribution to political education in Illinois if the plan should be followed out proposed by Gen. Palmer of making a careful canvass of the State previous to the election of the Legislature, as a candidate for the United States Senate. Gen. Palmer is a good speaker and a man of broader views than most of his fellow Democrats. He rould make the tariff the chief subject of disussion, and he would carry it directly before the farmers in every county of the State. As the fate of the protective tariff depends on the moment at which the farmer realizes how it sort would have a national importance. And as Gen. Palmer is a veteran with a distinguished record the prejudice that has been "worked" by the protectionists heretofore would be easily dispelled by him.

As to trying a suit mainst the World of any of its representatives in a Pennsylvania court, it would have to lodge in a United States court to which a non-resident of the State would have the right to remove it. Mr. Quay may try to pack a Grand-jury, after the the finding of such a body would do him no more good than the vote of confidence of a committee of fellow-Republican politicians. There is one place for Mr. Quay to try his States District Court, where each side will have ment will be delivered. Such an action the WORLD would welcome, and the sooner Mr. Quay begins to move the better.

Ers. Leonora Barry Lake's Remarks Las Right Cause a Warm Discussion in the Convention This Morning—How the Press of the State Stands on the Prohibition stion-To-Day's Proceedings.

Mrs. Belle Robert of St. Louis led the dev tional exercises with which the third day's session of the eighth annual convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Missouri was opened at the Pickwick Theater at 9 o'clock this morning. After the reading of the minutes, which followed, had been concluded the report of the Committee on Credentials was called for. The committee stated that they were not ready to report and they were granted further time.

perintendents of the various departments o the union was taken up. The reports were as follows: Work for Soldiers, Mrs. S. Allen, Kansas City; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. K. L. Shaw, Cameron; State and County Fairs, Mrs. F. Dungan, Oregon; Press Work, Mrs. M. Hughes, Richmond; Health and Heredity, Mrs. K. F. Newton, Bollvar; Union Signal, Mrs. A. S. Cairns, Kirkwood; Colored People

Mrs. S. Smith, St. Louis.

A few of these reports were read by the secretary of the convention, the ladies making them not being present. One of the most interesting of the reports was not down on was prepared and read by Mrs. Shields of endence, Mo. She stated that number of boys had been ed in the Loyal Temperance enrolled in the Loyal Temperance Legion and that much good work for the temperance cause had been done in Sunday-schools. Mrs. Hughes' report on press work was also very interesting. After paying the press a high compilment she said that she had found her department badly disorganized when she took hold of it. She had been endeavoring to get the department properly organized and in good working shape and she now had sixty five local pressworkers in one State. She had been making inquiries concerning the tones of the various Missouri publications in reference to prohibition and the union. There were more than seven hundred publications in the State outside of St. Louis. She had received reports on 100 of these. Of the number fifteen favored prohibition, and twenty-sight while not seven hundred publications in the State ourside of St. Louis. She had received reports on favored the saloons secretly if not openily. Very few, however, openiy advocated the saloon and liquor cause. The daily press of the State, almost without exception, was opposed to prohibition. Mrs. Hughes criticised the press, but said that she did not want to antagonize them but desired the assistance of the press and hoped to win the papers over. The newspaper unions reported that more inquiries were received for temperance news than formerly, which was an indication that the cause was advancing.

Mrs. O'Brien and Mrs. Smith, two of the erusaders of Lathrop whose trials are pending there, were present with their husbands in the hall, and were introduced to the convention. They were greeted with cheers, but did no speaking. Despite the manner in which they wrecked saloons at Lathrop, they were too timid to address the convention.
Their hasbands and other men addressed the convention, however, and spoke encourageingly of the temperance work.

Mrs. Anna Sneed Cairnes of the Kirkwood

Mrs. W. H. Wagoner related the efforts that had been made to get the laboring people to attend Miss Willard's lecture. The union had gone to the District Assemblies of the K. of L. and invited them to attend. The W. C. T. U. was always willing and glad to work with and for the laboring element.

Mrs. Louisa S. Rounds of Chicago, President of the Illinois W. C. T. U., spoke in the same strain, and related the work she had done among laboring people.

A HUSBAND'S CRIME. David Ransey Attempts to Kill His Wife in

New York Boarding-House.

NEW YORK, May 22 .- At 10'clock this morn ing David Ransey, accompanied by two other men, visited the boarding-house at 175 West Forty-fifth street, where Ransey's wife, who had separated from him, was living. One of the men knocked on the door, and when the landlady inquired what was wanted at the unseemly hour, called out in a loud volce: "The water pipes have burst and I want to tell you about it." The boarders, having been aroused and hearing that the water pipes had burst, rushed into the hallways. Upon the landlady opening the door three men pushed their way in and one of them said: "I am

WHO WILL GET IT?

The Scramble for the Street Comm ship-City Hall Matters,

To-morrow evening the Council will receive the bond of President-Elect Burnet of the Board of Public Improvements, and if it is acted upon at once the new official will be ready to take charge of the office Saturday morning. The bond is in the sum of $25,00 and bears the signatures of John R. Lionberger, Samuel Cupples, J. T. Dono-van and Willi Brown. It is expected that is will be approved without any delay, so as to enable Commissioner Burnet to step in the vacant office Saturday morning. The business has accumulated to a very large extent and some of the matters are demanding immediate attention. Mr. Burnet expects to have a very busy time of it for the first week or two. He said this morn-ing that he would hand his resignation as Street Commissioner to the Mayor Saturday

The question of who will be Mr. Burnet's successor is now agitating the po-centractors and City Hall generally and there are at least a dozen candidates, all exerting every influence to get the Commissionership.
Mayor Noonan will make the appointment, but the Council must confirm his selection. The position is regarded as one of the most important in the city, and in the matter of patronage is leads all the other departments. It was reported yesterday afternoon and this morning about the City Hail that Mayor Noonan had promised the position to Charles F. Stevens, who is connected with the Scott Elevated Railroad Co. and late of the Cotton Belt road. He is understood to have the support of W. H. Swift and other prominent politicians. The report that the Mayor promised the place to anybody is denied.
The candidates for whom most of the work is being done are John U. Lohrum, a South St. Louis contractor; Park Commissioner Klemm, Willard Beehan, the General Superintendent of Street Reconstruction, and Charles Varrelman, one of the district engineers.

The Mayor will, it is expected send the nomination to the Council Tuesday evening next. The appointment will then be referred to the Council Tuesday evening next. The appointment will then be referred to the Council men Vogel, Horton and Metcaife, all Republicans.

was led to the platform and made a neat speed of acknowledgment and was loudly apor acknowledgment and was loadly applianced. He is the engineer of the Laclede Gas-Light Co. of this city and was Vice-President of the association during the past year. The question of selecting a place of meeting for the association next year was taken up. 8t. Paul, Minneapolis and Louisville were the candidates. It was suggested that at the time of holding the convention, which is the third Wednesday in May, the two former places were too cold, and Louisville was chesen. The report of the special committee appointed at the last meeting of the association to act on a paper then delivered on "The Scientific Education for Gas Engineers," was read by Mr. John Gimper, chairman of the committee. The report recommended a two-years course in gas chemistry, and actual experience would do the rest. It was also stated in the report that the college at Ann Arbor, Mich., had started such a scholarship course. The report was received and a vote of thanks tendered the committee.

Mr. George N. Thompson, superintendent of construction of the Laclede Gas-Light Co. of St. Louis, who was down to read a paper this afternoon on "impressions of Eriths Gas-Works," requested that he be permitted to read it this morning, as he would be very busy this afternoon.

During to-day's session the following papers were read:

Mr. Allen R. Foote read a paper on "By-products of Experience." In the course of his remarks, Mr. Foote said a history of the utilization of by-products meant a history of cheap gas, as by making a record of the by-products of experience a solid foundation for successful management would be laid. Acts of judgement proceed from a knowledge of antecedent conditions and logical reasoning regarding the ultimate effect of things to be done. Accuracy of judgement depends upon the reliability and scope of the data and the power to determine effect by knowing the cause upon which it is founded. The paper dwelt on the importance of keeping accounts, a record of complaints, a memoranda of all negotiations with Municipal authorities, and, in fact, a uniform system of records, covering everything about the business. Experience kept quiet was the one taisent rolled in a napkin and hidden in the earth. If given to the companies of the State it would produce fifty tailents and if given to the entire nation over one thousand talents.

Mr. James Somerville read a very interesting paper on "The Effect of Natural Gas Competition," He traced the history of the discovery of natural gas and its adoption as an illuminating power, and in particular in the city in which he resides. His description of the manner in which streets were torn up, ditches left open and mains damaged was quite humorous. Ris company was completely quoe ont of the day consumption; there was no competition at all for the natural gas had a clean walk-over. He did not take a desponding view of the situation, but rather thought that the natural gas companies were working up an excellent business for the gas companies to take hold of when natural gas had a clean walk-over. He did not take a desponding paragraph was of most laterest to consumers. It was as follows:

- GAS COMPANY ACCOUNTS.

The committee to which was referred Mr.

J. D. Thompson's paper on gas companies' accounts, composed of Messrs. J. D. Thompson, George G. Ramsdell and A. W. Littleton, reported. Their suggestions were mainly of interest to office managers of gas companies.

Municipalities which have had large contracts with gas companies have had unpiessant experiences in this respect, and have dound it exceedingly difficult to secure information as to cost of manufacturing and other facts of interest to parties to such contracts.

The report innocently says, among other things:

The report innocently says, among other things:
Our business relations with the public are such as to render us inviting targets for the penetrating shafts of public orlicism.

The following part of the report is remarkable for its failure to name names: "We could easily excel as dividend distributors if our cost of gas consisted of coal and lime only, and we received a good price for our residuals. Such a system of figuring to us seems too ridiculous for serious notice; yet the writer is familiar with a case wherein the local press, in an attack upon the gas company, based its warfare and made its strongest arguments upon the cost of manufacture at a public institution making its own gas, and whose books, upon subsequent investigation, disclosed the fact that the above items only were included in the cost. The permiclous feature of the case rested in the credulous public believing the papers whose disinterested (f) figures taken from the books of the institution."

BRITTER GAS-WORKS.

Mr. George T. Thompson read a paper on will, with the rough surface of the spigot and, acons start the joint to leaking, and that with a lead joint on wrought from pipe this is not the case, for the reason that while the movement may be greater the surface of the pipe is smooth, eliding easily back and forth, without tearing or disturbing the joint.

When the question is asked, "Which is the best material for street mains—cass from or wrought iron?" we would likely answer at once, cast iron. Why? Because we have been accustomed to purchase the same for a great deal less money; it is cheaper, and if will last longer; and then we say again we have to renew our wrought iron services, and we do not the cast from mains. Have we not overlooked the fact that the wrought iron services are less than one-half the shickness of the cast iron mains; that where we have had occasion to make renewals, the wrought iron heavines mostly gave out at gutter crossings, where the pipe was not of sufficient depth, and was exposed to air, and dampness, and frost. Is it not true that many of us have wrought iron services in use to-day, and in good condition, that were connected to cureast iron street mains, when gas was first introduced to our towas, forty, and in some cases sixty years ago.

The wrought iron costing, in the first place, from 50 to 100 per cent more than does the cast pipe. This difference is greatly reduced in proportion as you get farther away from the points of manufacture. The wrought pipe does not cost near so much to lay and the saving in leakage will in a very short time bainnes the extra expense for the wrought properly coated with some material that will close the pores and protect the iron beyond a doubt; also, have the spigot end of the pipe turned or ground smooth so that a permanent and tight joint could be made. This certainly would not add a great deal of the pipe, which we think, under ordinary circumstances will last, properly coated with some material that will close the pores of the properly join two pisces of steel, requires that blows as other portion of the pips. I have here a sample of welded step pipe which I hope you will examine.

Axain, it is claimed that steel, being short in grain, gives a great deal of trouble by fracturing near the joints at the threads. For these two reasons it is not considered advisable to use steel mains.

EXETERDAY APTEROON

Mr. B. F. Chailor of Topeka, Kan., read an interesting paper on the "Relative Value of Gaseous Fucis." The speaker predicted that water gas would reach a very high rate of practical efficiency. The Committee on Obit-uary Resolutions presented a eulogy on the death of Edward J. King.

Walter Clark of Philadelphia presented a paper on "The World's Fair and the Gas Associations." The paper caused much discussion concerning the illuminating qualities of gas and electricity. The proposition to appoint a committee to arrange for a gas display at the World's Fair met with favor, and Mesers. Ramadell of Vincennes, Ind., Dennison of Pittsburg, Clark of Philadelphia, Littleton of Quincy, Ill., and Forstall of Chicago were appointed for that purpose.

In the evening an interesting exhibition of gas stowes and burners was given at the Laclede Gas Co. 's headquarters under the direction of Mr. R. D. Walsh.

THE ANTI-LOTTERY MEN IN THE LOUISIANA LEGISLATURE ON TOP.

A Test Vote Last Night Shows That They Have Thirty-eight Votes Which Is Sev-eral More Than Is Needed to Defeat the the Lottery Company's Charter.

YORK, May 22.-The Times New Orans special says that the anti-lottery men astered 38 votes and the pro-lottery 55 votes on an outside quession in the House last night, which was accepted as a preliminary test vote. This shows that the antis will have a strong minority at least.

Thirty-eight votes is several more than the nti-lottery men need, as it requires two thirds of the Assembly to submit an amend-ment. The anti-lottery men are jubliant over the test vote and are now confident that they will come off victorious, as no man who has woted with the opposition to the lottery can now go over to the enemy without public dis-

RESUMS OF THE ISSUES.

The question then is a simple one. It is, that we uphold our morality? Shall we respect the teachings of our fathers? Shall we put ourselves in line with the universal American opinion? Shall we endeavor to maintain a pure society and a free government? or shall we give up all these things? Shall we degrade our youth? Shall we sacrifice our homes? Shall we put shackles upon ourselves and our descendants by creating a corporation to deal in wrong and accumulate vast sums of money by so doing, and thus to become the master of the people of this State? Alluring as the offer of a large sum of money may be, I do not, I cannot hesitate to believe that when the issue is clearly put, the profier will be refused. Why, sirs, my attention was called the other day to what strikes me as an apt illustration. Phryne, famous for her beauty and signaily infamous in her life, had amassed a vast fortune by shame and sin. When Alexander had thrown down the walls of Thebes she offered to rebuild them at her own cost, not in consideration of obtaining a valuable and exclusive license to debauch and depraye, but simply that she be allowed to write upon the risen walls, "Destroyed by Alexander, the Macedonian; rebuilt by Phryne." The offer was refused. Mark, this was the strength of Pagan morality, and we, to-day, with the bright sunlight of Christian civilization shining on us, we are asked to associate forever the name of this great commonwealth with alicensed gambling liottery.

BEAT HIS BLIND WIFE.

Lawrence Dilly looked very sheepish and sehamed when he appeared before Judge Anderson this morning. He was arrested last night for beating his wife who is blind. She appeared against him in court this morning. One of her eyes were closed and over the coher one she wore a green shads. An ugly bruise in her forehead showed where he had struck her.

"He"s a good husband, Judge, when he isn't drinking." sobbed the wife as she wiped her sightless eyes with her apron. "If you'll let him go I don't think he'll beat me again, I Judge. Besides if you send him to the Workhouse I won't have anyone to support me."

The Judge fined the prisoner $50 and then stayed the fine on a promise of good behavior.

THE STOCK BROKERS

Gould's Influence Felt Against the Market Yesterday-Wall Street Gossip.

By Gaylord-Blessing Private Wire. From New York, 9 a. m.—Several members of the board agreed in saying that whether Gould was in town or not his influence was sides which the market was raided and furi ously sold by Cammack, Connor and probably by Mr. Jones. It was the brokers employed by Mr. Jones. It was the brokers employed by this party who bid up the money market anyway, and the action of the Mercantile Trust in sending round the street early in the day and offering money on mixed collaterals at 6 per cent was regarded by the stock brokers as the repetition of an old bear trick for the purpose of ascertaining the exact location of Sugar, Atchison, Richmond Terminals and other stocks which they had agreed to attack. Several prominent commission houses, which are generally bullish but aiways conservative, were on the fence last evening and said they wouldn't be surprised to see a lower market for the balance of the week.

THE WAY IN WHICH HE GOT A VERDICT FOR DAMAGES.

No Right to Move Their Buildings Sud-dealy and Without Warning When Citi-sens Are Leaning Against Them—Some Novel and Interesting Points of Law.

N the northeast ern part of Ala-bama there is a class of men known as "lean-ers." They live in the hills and eat clay as a business. The delicacies of their tables, such as corn bread and sow rind, are acquired by skillful trading of roots and "yarbs." and

They are called "leaners" because they do not care to sit down-they want to lean against something. There is not a chair in any of their houses, its to lean against are driven here and there in the dirt floor, serving for the accommodation of the family and of accommodation of the family guests that happen to drop in. Every guests that happen to drop in. Every Saturday a number of these people go against the station house, all day. One of the leading citizens of the 'leaning community" is Ben Haney. He is an ex-tremely tall man, with a curved spine, and generally wears a clay stain on the end of his nose. He has been known to go into the woods, tree a coon and lean against the tree until the disgusted coon came down. He was a frequent visitor to. Mulberry Station, on the T. & D. Railway, and always leaned agains the northeast corner. One day recently while he was leading there the railway

The bill of complaint, drawn up by Col. J.
W. Weatherby, Ben's lawyer, read as follows:

"Here comes the plaintiff, Ben Haney, and says that on the 17th of March he went to Mulberry Station, a place that he is in the habit of visiting, and that while he was leaning against the northeast correr of said atation house, the railroad company did then and there maliciously and feloniously hitch horses to the building and did suddenly move it in so much that the plaintiff did fail to the ground and did then and there hurt himself to the amount of $100 worth. The railroad company does well know Me habits of the plaintiff, and in moving the house, without having given him due and timely warning, was an infraction against the peace and quiet of this community, and the plaintiff does hereby beg and bray that his suit be granted and that the railroad company be made to pay the amount of the said $100."

Numerous witnesses were summoned, and the great railway lawyer, D. Anderson Scottfield, came on from headquarters. All the challenges were exhausted and it was some time before a jury could be empaneled. A tremor of excitement was felt throughout the entire neighborhood and a calf show in progress at a village some distance away adjourned to give the people an opportunity to attend the trial. After the hearing of a great deal of testimony and after many able speeches the Judge, an old and careful jurist, arose and said:

"Gentlemen of the jury, I had thought that could deliver my charge in a few and simple words, but I find that a written charge is thought in this zoom of morrow morning to re-

THREE COACHES WRECKED. ecident on the Chicago & Alton Nea Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 22.-Three coaches on the incoming Chicago & Alton train were wrecked this morning four miles east of here. No one was killed but several persons are reported injured. The passenger was run into by a freight went trials at Toulon which were successful enough from a nautical point of view, but it was then proved that in order to avoid waste of electricity the accumulator cases required modification. It took some months to perfect them, and in the meantime the public lost in Chicago and Mrs. Mary Morris of Milwaukee suffered slight abrasions of the skin. The collision occurred at the crossing of the Missouri Pacific track.

> A Schooner Cuts a Gash in the Big Marine Animal Off Hatteras.

Capt. John G. Crossley of the three-masted schooner Edward F. Mansfield, which arrived Saturday from Charleston, says the Baltimore with a large school of whales on Tuesday, the 8th inst. The schooner had a narrow escape from going to the bottom by being in collision with one of the monsters. Capt. Crossley, from going to the bottom by being in collision with one of the monsters. Capt. Crossley, who is familiarly known among the shipping men as "Honest John," says he never wants to have a like experience.

On the morning of the 8th the schooner was bowling along under a strong breeze from the southwest, when the mate sang out that there was a school of whales a short distance off. They were heading to the eastward, about thirty miles north of Cape Hatteras. There were about thirty in the lot, some large and some small, and they were frisking about in the water as if enjoying the fine weather. The vessel was making about ten knots, when about 2p. m. there was a sudden thud and a rattling of chains forward and the schooner lurched a bit. There was a sories of heavy thumps along the keel of the vessel, and, looking astern, Capt. Crossley was surprised to see the body of a large whale coming up from under the rudder, rolling over and over. He was hard hit, and the water for yards around was red with the whale's life blood.

The whale remained quiet until about two hundred yards astern of the ship, when, like the lines in "Olivette," he began "a-lashing of his tail." A groat gash in his left side showed the cause of his anger, and the blood was pouring out by the bucketful, tinging the occan all around. He lashed and beat the water with his tail until all around him was a mass of red foam. At times he rose half out of the water, and his tail was fully ten feet out. The schooner was making good time, and the monster was soon lost sight of. The vessel was not damaged at all, but the shock of the collision was very great. Capt. Crossley said he had a mind to take the whale in tow and bring him to this city and try him out for the sake of the oil. The whale was about seventy-feet long and would have yielded about sixty barreis.

peror on the attainment of his twentieth birthday. At 11 o'clock in the forenoon the Emperor entered the banqueting hail, and all those who had assembled kneit down until Hie Majesty had taken his seat. Then Kwonglok Tzze, an official in one of the Six Boards, rose up and poured out a cup of wine, which he banded to Prince Chow Ohing, who in turn handed it, kneeling, to the Emperor, who drank it. Wines was next given to all the guests, who, still kneeling, pledged the dealth of the Emperor.

The guests then rose and took their places at the tables. The Emperor had a table spread for himself on a raised dals in the middle of the hail, and a little below was the tables for his own immediate relatives and the guardians of the heir apparent. Ninety-six tables were spread altogether, and at them were seated Mongol princes, senior guardians of the Mongol princes, senior guardians, ministers of the Six Boards and officials of various kinds down to the degree of third-class mandarins. At the lower end of the hall the Mohammedan princes and Corean representatives were asseted; below them were the isables for the Court of Censors, and below them, again, almost in the count-yard, the lesser mandarins had to be content. Commercial Notes. Crop complaints are on the increase and instead even of nothing new fresh damage is heard of.
Bull horn are sprouting on foreheads that, but a short time ago, were decidedly grizzly, se hearish were the owners. The last convert is S. W. Cobb, who left here the other day with very bearish ideas and the opinion that crop damage had been greatly exaggerated. While away he visited the country around Harrisonville, Ill., one of the best wheat sections in that State. Wheat that two weeks ago, when Mr. Cobb was there before, locked elegant, he says is now looking just the reverse and heading out cheat.

Robert Southerland of Arrow Rock, Mo., confirms the stories of great damage and wheat developing cheat in Saline County. The plant in many instances, he says, is stunted in growth. He does not look for over a 40 per cent yield in his section.

The Clucinnati "Price Current" says: "Indications, as a whole, or not more promising than herefore for winter wheat, if any securial change less thorse for winter wheat, if any securial change less the section of the second section of the section of the second section of the sectio spate three years: "Late advices from India confirm the conclusion siready arrived at, namely, that the wheat crop will be under the average. Views of Californians on the Effect of the Alleged Filibustering Scheme, SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 22. - The Chronick special from Los Angeles gives a number of interviews with prominent citizens on the alleged filibustering scheme which is represented to have the annexation of Lower California to the United States as its object. Mr. C. A. Deloy, a resident of Ensenada, said "The expose will create intense excitement on the Peninsula, and, in my opinion, will re-on the Peninsula, and, in my opinion, will result in President Diaz demanding an explanation from the State Department and probably a demand from the Mexican Government that the conspirators be punished."

Mr. Deloy thought the exposure would result in serious damage to the interests of Americans on the Peninsula, but that the greatest sufferers would be the English stockholders in the Mexican Land & Colonization Co., as they were likely to lose by forfeiture the large concessions granted by the Mexican Government. It was possible, too, that the company's property at Ensenada, Alamo and other places would be confiscated. It is Mr. Deloy's opinion that, as soon as the news reaches Ensenada the company's officers there will be arrested. Mr. A. K. Coney, speaking on the same subject, said: "There is no fear of the filibusters attaining their object, either by peaceful or warlike means. I do not believe that the cordial feelings existing between the United States and Mexico, promoted largely through efforts and by the wisdom of President Diaz, can in any way be interfered with through the efforts of half a dozon adventurers whose sole object is to make money while their dupes suffer."

Careful attention to every detail has obtained for our clothing the reputation of being the very best sold in St. Louis.

Every garment sold in our house has on it the etignette, "Made in St. Louis by M. & A."
This is a guarantee of high merit in fabric, style, fit and durability.

Reformed Presbyterian Church.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 22.-The General Synod of the Reformed Presbyterian Church convened here at 10 o'clock this morning, Rev. H. Brownell of Coultersville, Ill., acting as Brownell of Coultersville, Ill., acting as Moderator. Delegates were present from all parts of the country. The session was taken up with effecting an organization and other routine business. Rev. Dr. Matthews. General Secretary of the Presbyterian Alliance, addressed the synod at considerable length, showing the object and design of the alliance. He said that it was their purpose to bring more closely together the various branches of the Presbyterian family and promulgate the doctrines and principles of their religion. The synod will probably be in session a week or ten days.

Traveling Public.

Studying Our Police System.

Mp. Moore, Police Matron at department beadquarters in Kansas City, was shown about the Four Courts this morning by Police Matron Harris. Mrs. Moore, a motherly old Matron Harris. Mrs. Moore, a motherly old lady, is in St. Louis as a delegate to the State Convention of the W. C. T. U. and while here is the guest of her friend, Mrs. Dr. Morrison. She takes great interest in police work and viewed with great satisfaction the reform measures introduced by Mrs. Harris in the care of female prisoners in the holdover and jail. Mrs. Moore will return to Kansas City to-morrow evening.

MEN'S THIN UNDERWEAR IN DEMAND.

a Warm Reception. Hot weather has been slow in reaching St. Louis, but is here at last, and should have a warm reception. What's the use of men suffocating by trying to wear their heavy winter underwear when they can buy cool underwear at Boyd's, 514 and 516 Olive street, from $1 to $10 per suit? If you don't want to pay over $1.50 or $2 for a suit, they will give you excellent goods for the price. If you want the finest goods made they have them. In fact, they carry five times as many lines of men's underwear as any house in St. Louis.

Large and small sizes a specialty. A Bude Reformer.

Steve Wilson, the colored barber and reformer, was the promoter of excitement in the neighborhood of 410 North Seventh street the neighborhood of 410 North Seventh street Tuesday night which has not yet subsided. He entered the shop intoxicated and began to use language which a young man who was present objected to. Wilson, it is said, advanced towards the young man in a threatening attitude, and a young lady present thereupon rushed between them and shricked. Her cries attracted a crowd and Wilson left. There has been no prosecution yet, and probably will not be.

CLOTHIERS.

Link follows link by necessary con sequence.—Coleridge.

WE never do any howling about our goods, but we now and then bring before your mind the great fact that being manufacturers and selling direct to the user, causes our clothing-prices to be considerably lower than are those of concerns who buy from jobbers. Your own eyes will show you our garments' decided superiority in style and general appearance; the tags which they bear will convince you of the economical side of the ques-

Here's the whole thing in a nutshell: We buy our cloth direct from the looms in quantities sufficient for our syndicate of stores; we do our own making; and, "as link follows link by necessary consequence," it stands to reason that we can undersell all would-be competitors. Doesn't it?

Guirke seemed to be taken with a spasm. His eyes rolled, his teath chattered and he clutched convulsively at the railing for support. Baugert called out to Wilson to help the man to keep his feet, and Wilson stepped forward to assist him to a chair.

At that instant McGuirke appeared to have regained control over his nerves. Selzing a beer glass from the counter he struck Wilson a terrible wheek on the forehead, cutting a gash several inches long with the sharp corner. Wilson started to run for the front door but was followed by here to the marriage the marriage Fair of California with Herman Oeirich of this eity. Already as much as $100,000 has been expended on the trous seau. It was Mrs. Maho suggested EW YORK, May 22. pended on the seau. It was Mrs. Mac-Kay who suggested to Miss Fair to have her wedding gown from wedding it was made modiste' Miss Fair to have her wedding gown from Paris. It was made there at a modiste's who is at the present who is at the present moment somewhat more expensive and stylish than either of her male competitors. Miss Fair's experience has been identical with that of many of her countrymen. When the bridal dress reached San Francisco she decidthen sent here to Ghormley, who is about completing the other garments of her trousseau. It has been entirely remade terday. Mr. Ghormley, although he received no instructions, decided that the lace should not be cut. This pointe de Alencon is th finest piece that has been sent over here for ding gown is ivory satin. springiness. The lace drapery over this cost abroad $5,000. The train, which falls away with a fine sweep is three and one-half yards long. On the left side three clusters of orange blossoms are piled lengthwise on the skirt; the three on the right side ore across and not far from the bottom. The corsage which opens in a small vback and front has turned ever it a large V of lace with overlapping scarf ends in front. Two half moons of lace, delicately wired, finish the neek opening and edge clow sieeves which have high puffs of lace, also wired. A cluster of orange blossoms nesties amid the lace on the corsage which is sharply pointed from the side seams. Under this point at the back falls a deep ficunce of lace. Three superb point lace bridal velishave been sent from France to Miss Fair, and she may wear one, but at present her idea is to discard them all and envelop herself in CLOUDS OF TULLE.

Among the thirty other exquisite gowns which are ready to be forwarded and have cost $40,000 is an evening costume all purely white, It is made of snowy Ottoman silk, the heavy cords of which are alternately armure and satin. The princesse back is arranged with a three-yard train and the sleeveless corsage is decolette. The foot-wide valencienes on this dress cost $5,000 and is arranged diagonally; between each flounce of lace is one of silk, all terminating high on the right side in a bunch of ostrich tips. Popples are profusely strewn over a dinner gown of crope of their own brilliant tink arranged in Grecian draperies. A tea gown of rosy creps is made a la Sarah Bernhardt, loose and long. The creamy lace front is tied at the waist with a broad pink asah and is to be worn with a cape of lace. An afternoon toilette of white moire is covered with a read of lace. MISS FAIR'S BRUNETTE BEAUTY Himy net work of lace. The front of pale rose crepe de chine has on it a fringe fourteen inches wide. A carriage gown of French gray bengaline is combined with will we cashmere heavily trimmed with gold. Among the street suits is a Prussian blue grenadine with white stripes. The waist has a cost effect and leg-of-mutton sleeves which are tight and buttoned to the elbow on the inner side. The details of some yachting suits just ordered by Miss Fair have not yet been decided upon. One of them will, however, be made of yellow flannel and lacedup at the side over pale green kid. Any number ever, be made of yellow flannel and lacedup at the side over pale green kid. Any number of soft India sliks, embroidered batistes and mousseline de soie costumes will go with the more elaborate gowns for summer wear. With all of these are slippers and shoes to match of the most dainty description, as are also the large variety of hats, bonnets, wraps and parasols to be worn with the out-door

Mrs. Fair, the mother of the bride, was quietly divorced from her husband, ex-United States Senator James G. Fair, a few years ago, and he bestowed on her with all of a bonanza king's musificence, a goodly share of his wealth. With the trousseau will be sent the aplendid gown she proposes wearing at her daughter's wedding. The front is of pearl embroidery on the finest of silk net, the Princess shaped gown itself being of the richest white, with a two-and-a-half-inch shot stripe of the paiest tint of frost blue. It is all elaborately embroidered on sliver, and the trimming on it of Duchesse point lace is valued at

All the Ballots Received Until the Closing of the Polls in the Lady Teachers' Election Are Now Deposited.

Miss Madge Frederick Leads To-Day's Roster, With Miss Anna B. Boyd Second and Miss Callie A. Pritchett Third.

Below Is Given the Last List of Candidates Until the Appearance of the Official Returns on Sunday, June 1-No Counting or Inspection of Ballots to Be Done Until Next Wednesday, May 28-The Polls Close at Noon on That Day and the Official Count Begins Immediately Afterward-Read Again the Rulesfor Closing the Election, and Be Governed by Them-Numerous Suggestions Considered-An Eventful Day in the Great Popular Election.

ballots in the election for two lady teachers to go to Europe ceased at 6 p. m. yesterday. No snyelopes, etc., have been opened since, and none will be examined in any way until Wednesday next, when the polls close at noon. The object is to keep the results of the final week of the contest a secret from all, even the aworn tellers. A huge ballot-box has been constructed, and is placed in front of the winlows of the Post-Disparch counting-room. It is in plain view from the street and is the first thing that confronts those who enter the office. This box is locked, and a slit is left in the top through which she ballots are slipped into the receptacle. A young lady, appointed by the judges, has been put in charge of the ballot-box, and she will deposit all votes brought to the office in the presence of the person who brings them. Packages received by mail are dumped in as soon as they reach the office. Take a look at the ballot-box as you pass by. It will show you how the ballots are deposited and kept.

Remember again, that all guesses sent now that consequently you will lose all benefit Remember also, that all letters which come with ballots will also go into this recepticle, and cannot be printed. Consequently, you should send all guesses, letters, etc., in separate envelopes from your ballots. Address them to the editor of the Post-Disparch, and in that way they will not be put with the ballots. This is important, because, if you wish to make any appeals in favor of your candidate, you want them to go into the columns of this paper, and not into the yawning depths of the box. The attention of all voters is again called to the following rules for closing the contest, formulated by Judges Joseph Specht and Augustus Frank. They will be adhered to to

CLOSING RULES IN BRIEF.

The last ballot will be printed in the next "Sunday Post-Dispatch," May 25. The sale of copies of the "Sunday Post-Dispatch" containing the last ballot will close Tuesday, May 27, at 6 p. m.

No ballots will be received or counted, under any circumstances, after 12 o'clock noon of Wednesday, May 28, when the polls The official result will be announced on Sunday, June 1.

All counting of ballots ceased yesterday, Wednesday evening, May 21, at 6 p. m. No jenvelopes, etc., are to be opened at all after that time until the polls close on Wednesday, May 28, at neon. So that no bedy, not even the sworn tellers, will know what the figures are during the last week. The last list of the standing of the teacher is printed in to-day's (Thursday's) "Post-Dispatch," May 22. It gives the result up to 6 p. m. yesterday, based on the last count, referred to in the preceding paragraph. It contains all the candidates.

Special orders for copies of next "Sunday Post-Dispatch" containing the last ballots which are in the "Post-Dispatch" office Saturday next, the 24th inst., will escape the rush at the close of the contest.

The vote was very heavy up to 8 p. m. yesterday, causing many changes in the lists. It was also very heavy this morning. By 'heavy' is meant that very many packages have come in. According to the rules, now, of course, nobody knows, or can know, the nature of the vote. Voters are again requested geleave all marks off of the packages which would indicate for whom the ballots are cast, or the number sent in. Remember, also, to-put nothing but ballots in the ballot packages. All letters and all guesses must be sent separately, if you wish to reach the proper destination.

Standing of All the Candidates. Below is given the standing of every candidays in the race based on all the votes cast up 6 p. m. yesterday, when, on the judges orders, all counting ceased. Many changes vill be noticed. Miss Madge Frederick of the Stoddard, who took the lead from Miss Anna B. Boyd of the Bates yesterday, still holds it, and she therefore has the honor of leading the and she therefore has the honor of leading the contest in the final list—a list which is the last indication of the standing of the candidates until the official returns be given on June 1. But Miss Boyd's pupils and friends were not idle. Like hundreds of others, they did much hard work yesterday, and while Miss Boyd did not get past Miss Frederick, she did pass Miss Calile A. Pritchett of the Shaw, and that lady, who led so long, appears to-day in third place, a position quite novel for her.

Miss. Rose W. Fanning and Miss Lucy Calhoun held their places fourth and fifth. But in sixth place there is a surprise. Miss Rosalie Kaufman of the Peabody has taken it. To do this, she had to pass for eighth place yesterday over Mrs. Marie Erskine of the Exercit and Miss Margaret L. Watson of the O'Fallen. Both the latter lose one place. Miss Ella F. Stearins of the Elleardsville has gone ahead of Miss Alice Kearney of the Penrose, Miss S. T. Martin of the Carroll has advanced several pegs, etc. It is useless to point out more changes, because every voter keeps the lists from day to day and carefully makes the comparisons. Here is the order in full in which the teachers entered on the long week of absolute secrecy, during which no one is to know maything about the figures. What will the positions be when the other end of the dark tunnel is reached?

Voters' Letter-Bex. Sr. Louis, Mo., May 19, 1890.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Mamma used "Rough on Rata" about two weeks ago, and one died from the effects of it and was found under the dining-room floor. Papa had to take up part of the flooring and found Mr. Rat. Among the rubba which the rats had taken into their hole was found which the rats had taken into their hole was founded, not being a cifizen of the part of the part of the liberty to cast it for my favorite teacher. Mes Callie A. Fritchett of Shaw School, and I know it will bring her luck. Respectfully, MAMIE TRAIL, 2852 Olive street. ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 19, 1890. ST. Louis, May 20, 1890. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Inclosed find-votes for our favorite teacher. Mrs. E. Green, of the Hodgen School, always kind to her scholars and ever ready to teach its without rudeness. I hope all the scholars and her friends will still keep voting for her. Yours, BENNIE BROWN, 1643 California avenue,

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 21. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Please inclosed find votes for Miss Rosalie Kaufman, whose friends seem to have deserted her. She is very popular, and I am supprised to see her so far down, when she ought to head the Famous Two Hundred. I wish her luck.

E. C. SHUSTER.

ST. LOUIS, May 20, 1890, To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Place to the credit of Miss Sarah Archeefer of the Benton School twelve votes. Aside from the personal feeling of esteem and friendship with which I regard her, I cannot see how the good people of St. Couls can fail to recognize and appreciate as fully as Louis can fail to recognize and appreciate as fully as the country of the

MISS GEORGIE TAYLOR. 1721 Glasgow avenue. ST. LOUIS, May 20, 1890. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I send Mrs. E. Green vetes for her being so good to me when I was in her room. She never locked me up in the wardrobe. I hope she will go to Europe. Willie Brown, 1643 California avenue. ST. LOUIS, May 21,1'90. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

We send to-day ballots for a most deserving and painstaking teacher. They may not bring a prize, but in compliment to her we such see the name of our favorite, Sophie T. Martin, occupy a high place in Thursday's list. Help, friends Bawer too late. St. Louis, Mo., May 19, 1010.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
Inclosed please find four votes for Miss Cora Shumate. She is my teacher and 1 like her very much. She is so kind to me, and a trip to Europe would deher a great deal of good, so I am going to try and send her.

Inclosed find one guess. I know how to sympathize with the poor editor of the Headlight. Though not an editor, I am the wife of an ex-editor, that is to say that he run account to the sympaper for a time with the state of the sympaper for a time with the sympaper for a time with the sympaper for a time of the sympaper for the sealing and so the last week of March it gave its dying gasp. If my guess should be the lucky one please notify me far enough ahead for me to push up some of our delinquent subscribers so that I can get something to wear if I have to make such a long trip, for although California is good enough for me to live in, I should like very much to see what the Old World looks like. deals with Russian politics and the scenes are laid among the Russian people.

Miss Marceau wrote "For Russia" as a novel, but on the advice of friends dramatized it. The play cannot be called an exceptionally strong one, but the authoress-actress has reason to be proud of her first drama. Decided talent is shown and with more experience Miss Marceau will doubtless be enabled to produce some excellent pieces of work. As a writer Miss Marceau is well known to magazine readers and has written some for the newspapers.

The projected electric line along Vande venter avenue to intersect with the Chouteau avenue road and extend due north to the south central gate of the Fair Grounds, is attracting a good deal of interest in property all along the route. This is the most western attracting a good deal of interest in proper, all along the route. This is the most western of the existing or proposed north and south lines, and as it will cross all of the principal thoroughfare will be developed by the enterprise and much value added to a great many fine corners. For a long time before this new road was thought of the tenden-cy of Vandeventer avenue, between Page and Lindell, inclined to business rather than residence places, and as there was a good deal of activity on the thoroughfare a section of it north of Olive street was well paved, and since then that portion of the street has improved very rapidly. Underlying the road-way is the Vandeventer avenue sewer, another recent public improvement which has proven to be of incalculable benefit to in immance area of that new western terri ation to say that nine out of every ten of the solid blocks of costly brick dwellings between Grand and Taylor avenues have been onlit since the completion of this valuable Vandeventer avenue sewer. These building improvements have put Vandeventer avenue in the proper position for a retail street, where store-keepers will most likely do a thriving business in catering to the wants of the well populated district on both sides of the throughfare. To these advantages will be added the electric road. It is the idea of Mr. Geo. Capen, President of the Lindell Railway, to establish a West End depot on the north side of the Missouri Pacific tracks, where they curve between Papin and Chouteau avenues. At this place, Mr. Capen says, passengers over any of the railways entering the clip through the Mill Creek Valley may alight, if they choose to, and reach any part of the city by taking one of his electric cars, and he proposes to carry them for one fare, been to the control of the city by taking one of his electric cars, and the proposes to carry them for one fare, been to any of his roads. Taking the electric line at this West End Depot, the trip may be made due north to the Fair Grounds without change of cars, or if it is desired to reach the business center, passengers may continue their route down town over the Chouteau avenue line or may go north until they come to Finney and than they care are colour asset down Washinston. street, where store-keepers will most likely do a thriving business in

ASSEMBLYMAN TRIER'S PRANK.

He Runs Away With the Newark Elevated

By Telegraph to the Post-Disparch. TRENTON, N. J., May 22 .- Assemblyman Reuben Trier of Newark is more talked about than anyone else in the State. He has played prank in the Legislature which has led to confusion and commotion, and created a general sensation. On Monday night he ran elevated railroad bill. Since then he has not been seen here, and neither has he sent the been seen here, and neither has he sent the bill to the House. The House ordered him, as Chairman of the Committee on Munici-pal Corporations, to report the bill. As soon as the order was issued Trier left the chamber, saying he was going to see the Governor on some busi-ness, but instead of doing that he took the first train for his home in Newark. The House has been in a tumult over his disap-pearance ever since. Hesolution after reso-lution was offered declaring him in contempt and directing the Sergeant-st-Arms to go in drawn, because it had been expected that Trier might turn up at any moment. But the patience of the House was exhausted Tuesday, when a resolution was adopted in real ernest directing the Sergeanist-Arms to take the recalcitrant member dead or alive when he discovered his where-abouts. That official began his search early in the afternoon, but at a late hour he had not reported progress. The discussion over the matter in the afternoon was spirited. Mr. Klotz insisted that Trier had committed a serious offense against the dignity of the House and he should be severely punished. Mr. Aldrich defended Trier and deprecated such hasty proceedings. Trier was an honest man and would appear in a short time. Speaker pro tem. Marst waxed wrathy. He condemned Trier's conduct in scathing language and advised the House not to adjourn sine die until the bill had been produced. Each member of the committee present was then asked if he know anything about the bill, when each replied that he did not. Some one said that Mr. Fagan of Hoboken had it, but he made a denial.

replied that he did not. Some one said that Mr. Fagan of Hoboken had it, but he made a denial.

It is reported that Trier has gone South on a business trip. The bill provides that any association of capitalists may, with the consent of the Newark Aldermen, construct an elevated railroad from the Market Street Depot in Newark to the city of Orange. The present law conters such authority upon street railroad companies. Col. Livingston Price, chairman of the Essex County Democratic Committee, is the principal supporter, of the bill. He drafted it and Senator Martin pushed it through the Senate about three weeks ago. Most of the property-holders on the pronosed route have remonstrated against such legislation and several hearings have been held in Newark before Trier's committee on the subject. Besides these opponents to the measure there are Alderman Gaddis and James Smith, Jr., who are taking a prominent part in bringing about its defeat. They have been here all the week work ing like beavers, and will not let up until the Legislature adjourns since die. They say the aponsors of the bill want it passed that they may have tomething to sell, that the people of Newark do not want an elevated railroad, and that the Legislature should respect their wishes. It is said, on the other hand, that thousands of dollars have been expended to bring defeat to the bill, and that Trier is only a tool in the hands of a powerful combination which is represented here by Gaddis and Smith. Senator Martin introduced a bill of similar import in the Senate yesterday morning, but when he tried to advance it he was defeated by a vote of it to 6. It is the first time in the history of the New Jersey Legislature that a mumber has so brazenly absenced with a bill and in utter defiance of the law makers. Herefolore bills have been stolen, but the theres were never discovered. In this instance the man runs way with a bill and before he left tells the House that he would see it in Hades first before he would give it up. Trier is a well-known New

Canada's Proposition Rejected by United States Cabinet,

Heraid its Washington correspondent says he learns that at the Cabinet meeting Tuesday is was decided to reject the British proposi-tion submitted three weeks ago for a settle-ment of the Behring Sea question. Secretary Windom was opposed to the acceptant of the proposal; first, because its provisions were deemed by him entirely inadequate to secure the professed object of preserving seal life in Behring Sea, and, second, because it virtually ignored the established position of the United States in that sea, arising out of the ownership of the partially surrounding shores and of a part of the islands within the sea; the possession of a universally recognized boundary line which included in the cession to the United States the very part of the sea wherein alone this country has sought to exercise a Territorial jurisdiction; the inheritance from Russia of a continuous claim of jurisdiction never directly questioned nor successfully assailed, and the undoubted right that the United States has to exercise a reasonable police jurisdiction to protect its own property and interests in the Behring sea and secure to itself the natural use and profit thereof.

Secretary Blaine did not advocate an acceptance of the proposal and thought it probable that further negotiations would abate the Canadian contentions and improve the position of the United States. The British proposal, being without support from either of the two departments immediately concerned with it, necessarily met with rejection, a like fate with that which overtook the preceding American proposal in the conneil of the Government of Canada. It is understood of the proposal; first, because its pro with it, necessarily met with rejection, a like fate with that which overtook the preceding American proposal in the conneil of the Government of Canada. It is understood that in neither case was an acceptance of the proposal anticipated by the party submitting it, but that the only result expected from the exchange of proposals was the bringing of the parties a little nearer together by the elimination of some of the points of difference. To some extent, according to information, this expectation has been realized, so that the negotiations are really in a better state notwithstanding the rejection of the counter proposals, than at the beginning.

It is stated that the next step in the negotiations will be the discussion and settlement of the details connected with the action of a joint commission of experts to prepare and submit to the two governments a full project as the basis of a treaty by which the whole question can be permanently settled. It is possible that the Government of Russia may be directly represented in this commission of experts, but that is a matter which has not received any consideration and is altogether likely to be governed by the wishes of that Government at the proper time.

If tickets are not obtained through Sundayschools the price of admission will be 15 and 25 cents, and the scholars of various Sundayschools are requested to obtain tickets from their superintendents and thus save this additional expense that will have to be incurred if they buy tickets at the gate.

PICKED THE PREACHER'S POCKET. And Graham McCandless Is Under Arrest

On last Tuesday night, after attending a conand directing the Sergeant-st-Arms to go in search of and take him in custody and bring him before the bar of the House. After a heated discussion each resolution was with drawn, because thad been expected that Trier might turn up at any moment. But the pocket had been picked while on the car and $37 in money, a gold locket, a plain gold ring and a pocket-book containing several checks on the Continental Bank stolen. He remembered that a dapper young man had been seated next to him in the car and at once suspected him of the work. Yesterday morning he gave a description of the fellow at police headquarters. On the strength of this Detectives Lawler and Desmond went into cription of the fellow at police headquarters. On the strength of this Detectives Lawler and Desmond west into Pool alley last evening and arrested Graham McCandless, a well-known character in police circles. Rev. by a violent storm. The Indians regard the storm as a bad omen. To-Hee made a speech yesterday stating that in consequence of the bad faith hitherto exercised by the white men towards them in making treaties they would decline to sign. Several other members of the tribe then spoke and all followed the tactics of their chief.

Mr. Jerome then threatened the Indians with the wrath of the great faither if they refused to sign the bill. They remained firm. Chiefs White Cloud, Kirwin Murray and Victor Dupes offered to sign it they were given 160 acres aplece, but this was refused them. None of the Indians consequently, signed.

Mrs. Mary A. Carlton, Mrs. Martha A. Coates and Mrs. Anna M. Crabtree have entered suit against Mrs. Martha Bingham and the Widows and Orphans' Home Society of Missouri. The society was started in 1890 and made money. The State put $46,000 in building on the property. In 1874 Mrs. Bingham was made President, and it is said she exerted an undue influence over the Board of Directors, and the Home began to wase. In 1891 it disbanded, and it is said Mrs. Bingham induced the Board of Directors to vote her the $20,800 left in the treasury by the sale of the property. The plaintiffs want this money accounted for.

It was the opinion of all trainers and turfmen here that she was by odds the best filly of her age in America, and her mishap is a serious one to her owners, Insemuch as she threatened to sweep the fillies' stakes all up the line.
Flyaway is a daughter of George Kinney and Sunbeam, by imp. Leamington, and was bred by the Hurstburne stud, this country. Last year she won three races out of six at Latonia, a purse at St. Louis and the Real Estate Stakes at the same place.

Her only start this year was in the Nevada Stakes at the recent Nashville meeting, when she ran second to Heiter Skelter, to whom she conceded seven pounds. In racing condition she was vained at $15,000.

Fifth race, for maidens of all ages, six furlongs—Pagan, first; Dr. Helmuth, second; B. B. Million, third. Time, 1:16½.

Sixth race, for 2-year-olds, five furlongs—Lord Harry, first; Windaway, second; Rotation, third. Time, 1:03¾.

Racing at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 22.—There was a good day's racing here yesterday, though the Kentucky Oaks resulted in a practical walk over for English Lady, who won with infinite ease by over five lengths. The crowd was very large and the betting on all the events was spirited.

First race, the Louisville Hotel Handicap, one mile—Huntress, first; Marion C, second; hastaway, third. Won by two lengths. Time, Second race, the Kentucky Oaks, one and one-half miles—English Lady, first; Marie K., second. Won by five lengths. Time, Third race, a mile and seventy yards—Work-mate, first; Happiness, second; Warpeak, third. Won by thirty lengths. Time, 1:504s. Fourth race, for 2-year-olds, five furious—Leonard, first; Lamar, second; Laura Allen, third. Won by a length. Time, 1:044s. the two would meet for the purse offered by the California Athletic Club, and Sullivan was only waiting for a settlement of his Missisplp trouble to complete. Now, however, be has agreed with the Fresident of the newly organized Virginia Athletic Club to fight Jackson for a purse of $25,000 before that club, and failing this to fight McAuliffe for a $10,000 purse. Unless the California Club outbids the Virginia organization its prospects of having a meeting between Sullivan and Jackson are exceedingly slim. The Virginia club guarantees freedom from police interference, and relies on its State charter. Its capital is $500,000 in shares of $100 each; is authorized to loan or lease $5,000 acres of land in any of the 100 counties of the State; has authority to police the land controlled by it, and 'tall persons are prohibited entering upon the lands belonging to or leased by the sompany for any purpose or in any capacity pany for any purpose or in any capacity whatever without the consent of the President or manager."

The Loser Won.

There was a bitter fight at Pine, Ind., yesterday, between Tommy White and W. Brennan. both of Chicago. The peculiar feature of the mill was the action of White's second, who threw up the sponge atter his man had practically whipped Brennan. The fighting was flerce from the first. In the inth round White's nose was broken, but he retailated by knocking Brennan across the ring. Finally in the forty-eight round White's second threw up the sponge and Brennan was declared the winner, sithough scarcely able to stand. White was in fairly good shape and protested vigorously. protested vigorously.

Misrepresenting Attendance. Ne dependance whatever can be placed on tendance at the various games, writes Austin. Both sides have been guilty, I am sorry to say, of giving out false returns of attendance. Both sides to the controversy have been guilty of this performance. But even assuming that the published figures are correct, the aggregate average attendance at the games of both Leagues falls far below the average attendance last season. It is a war between factions, not an honorable contest between clubs. The game has been dragged down to the level of being made the medium of newspaper advertising schemes, and strange measures have been resorted to to obtain patronage. And all this has been broughted about by an unholy rebellion that could have been avoided by a little bending of "dignity" and the exercise of a little common sense by both sides to the controversy. It is not to be wondered at that those who love base ball as a high, moral, elevating sport rather than as a money-making enterprise, feel that the situation is a serious one.

MEXICO'S STATEHOOD.

FRELING IN THE TERRITORY AGAINST ADMISSION.

Growing Territory and the Dangers Incident to a Change of Government -Hostility of Mexicans to Americans-Some of the Results Likely to Fellow a Change of Status.

HE question of the admission of New Mexico as a State will come up before long," said S. C. Armitage of Santa friends in the city, such is the case as regards New Mexico. A great many of our most substantial and influential citizens, especially those holding land and those interested in cattle or sheep, are of the opinion that the admission of New Mexico as a State would be the greatest disaster that could betall it. I know that many of the denizens of the cities and large towns, such as Santa Fe, Las Vegas and Albuquerque, do not take this view, but I think that it is because they do not understand the situation in the least thickly populated districts. I have been a resident of New Mexico for twenty-two years, and know every nook and corner of it. More than that; I have been brought in contact with the native Mexicans, and think that I understand their feelings as well as most Americans. I have compared notes with old settlers, and find that almost without exception they agree that to admit the Territory as a State would be well nigh fatal to its interests. It is an unfortunate but also an unquestionable fact that nine-tenths of the natives, who make a majority of the population, are bitterly nostile to all Americans and everything Americans. People who live in the cities do not realize this, as the urban pepulation, which makes its living out of Americans in one way or another, is of quite a different type from the mass of the Mexicans who live in the country and the small villages. We have had possession of the territory for over forty years, but during that time have not succeed in appreciably influencing the Mexicans to adopt American methods or modes of thought.

We HAVE RUCCEEDED in arousing their bitter hostility through acts of injustice, and a general high-handed and contemptuous bearing. No old New Mexican will deny that the natives have very often been treated as if they had no rights at all, that their property has been taken away from them, and that they have had small chance of obtaining justice where their rights conflicted with American interests. Matters are far better now than they were ten years ago, but all the old bi

The instances of a few intelligent and wealthy families, such as the Armajos and Oteros, and the large traders in the principal towns does prove anything.

"At present we have an American Governor, and what is far more important, American judges and court officials. The laws are administered fairly and in accordance with the principles that prevail throughout the country. The old reproach of injustics to the Mexicans was long ago removed. Let the territory become a state and all this will be changed. The Mexicans will sleet their own judges and summon their own juries. No one acquainted with the country can doubt what the result will be. The land titles of the territory are in a chaotic condition at best, but if left in the hands of Mexican judges would be universally decided against the Americans. Juries who could not understand English would be common and it would not be at all unlikely that judges might be elected who would have but asmattering of that language. The result would be that Americans would not care to settle in a State ac governed, many now there would leave and a wonderfully rich district would be given up to the most unprogressive element to be found upon the continent. If New Mexico is kept in the territorial condition for a few years longer immigration will give the Americans the upper hand, but if admitted at once there is little hope of this. The feeling ameng Americans throughout the Territory is strongly against admission. A few politicians, who look for preferment, desire Statehood, but the mass of business men are against it. It is the only thing that can check the growth of the Territory, but would do so most effectually."

When asked if the charges that Mitchell abused his authority and trangressed the laws had no effect or if they were to be investigated, "Why should they?" said the President of the Council. THE HORSESHOERS' UNION.

Delegates Returning from the Cleveland Convention-The Business Transacted. Several St. Louis delegates to the convenion of the Journeymen Horseshoers' National Union at Cleveland, O., returned home this morning. They report a successful convention, but say that a very warm and spirited discussion took place relative to several local unions which had not paid in full their assessments to the National Union. The delegates representing the delinquent unions, according to the constitution, had floor privileges at the constitution, but not the right to vote on any resolution, or in fact any business brought up. On the promise of a speedy adjustment of the delinquent assessment, the delegates were given the same privileges as members in good standing.

Several amendments were made to the constitution. Hereafter no member of less than a year's standing will be eligible to office. Any union representing seventy-five men will be entitled to two Representatives at the National Convention and one Representative for every additional hundred. Article No. 18 was entirely eliminated from the constitution. The short hour question was discussed, but no definite conclusion arrived at. (Transistion From the German.)
During my sojourn here I had frequent opportunities to make myself acquainted with the Knabe planes, and from fallest conviction I declare them to be the best instruments of America. Should I return here for artistic purposes—which may be the case very som—I shall most certainly use the planes of this celebrated make. I give this testimon fall with pleasure, voluntarily and entirely unsolicited by the house of Knabe. Eugen D'Albert.

Supremely Delightful Supremely Delightful

To the emaciated and debilitated invalid is the sense of returning health and strength produced by Hostester's Stomach Bitters. When that promotar of vigor is tested by persons in feeble health, its restorative and vitalizing potency som evinces itself in improved appetite, digastion and nightly repose, the acle conditions under which strength and nerve quietnde is vouchusfed to the human system. A gain in Each of course ensues upon the restoration of digastion and assimilation.
As surely as winter follows the fall of the Jeaf, does disease shadow the footsteps of decining strength, when the premature decadence of vitality is not arrested. Marasmus, consumption and other westing maladies are prompt to featen upon the of decading tonic, which, there is except the internalises of age and those of the gentler ass.
Althountation, malaris, liver and aidney troubies yield to it.
